DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1-4,7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Thomas et al 6,442,983. Thomas et al teach a main body 30 comprising a lock rod 20 with annular grooves 460, a driving motor unit 512, a lock plate 320, an input interface comprising a keypad 40, display 50, a processor, a battery (500) compartment 110, and contact position switches 107/212/520.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 5,6 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The prior art of record fails to teach the hold down plate and associated spring as claimed.

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Note, especially, the keypad locks of Kajuch et al '501, Larson et al '575; the remote-control motor operated lock plates of Chang '996, Chen '537, Carlo et al '963, Lii '403, Hsiao '019, Lind '733.
